Defining the Need

In 2016, the New York State Office of Mental Health and Coordinated Care Services, Inc. (CCSI) convened champions of trauma-responsive practices from around the state to connect and collaborate with one another. At the conclusion of that extraordinary day, the message was clear: we can accelerate trauma-responsive practice change efforts by being better connected to one another.

The Network

The NYS Trauma-Formed Network is funded by the NYS Office of Mental Health, informed by a multi-stakeholder Advisory Council and developed by CCSI. The information found on the website is applicable for all ages and takes a cross-sector focus to support integrated care from a trauma-informed, trauma-sensitive lens. The statewide network uses a convenient online platform to shape and accelerate trauma-responsive activity across New York State, supporting a true statewide System of Care.

TRUST/TRUST-S*

Formerly the TIC-OSAT, the Trauma Responsive Understanding Self-Assessment Tool (TRUST) is a free online self-assessment tool that allows organizations to assess their progress in implementing practice change initiatives. A version specific for schools and educational settings, the Trauma Responsive Understanding Self-assessment Tool for Schools (TRUST-S) was developed and launched in 2019. These assessments are aligned with SAMHSA's principles of trauma-informed care and allow users to review individualized reports and recommendations.

About CCSI

For more than 25 years, Coordinated Care Services, Inc. has partnered with organizations across New York State to provide the specialized management services, technical assistance, and implementation support needed to deliver innovative, high quality services across the behavioral health and human service delivery systems.
